WITH OUR MOVE ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 16th!
SHIFTS AVAILABLE 8:30 AM TO 4:30 PM

Can you volunteer 2 to 3 hours on Saturday, October 16 and are you able to do what's listed below?

We are moving boxes of books, empty bookcases, tables, and other furniture out of the library for about a month in order to replace the wood floor in the Main Reading Room with a new wood floor and refinish the wood floor in the Children's Reading Room.

We need people who can

- Lift 20 pounds and can use a handtruck or furniture cart
- Use a handtruck to move boxes of books up or down a rental truck ramp
- Hand carry & maneuver furniture carts of empty bookcases up or down a rental truck ramp
- Hand carry & maneuver furniture carts of tables and other furniture up or down a rental truck ramp

We are looking to have a crew at the library loading the truck and a crew at Wells College Cleveland Hall unloading the trucks.

We promise you no packing, unpacking, or stair carries. We also promise you hard work that you will see the results of on the 16th and in the Library when the floors are returned to being in great shape!

PLEASE LET US KNOW BY OCTOBER 6th at 12 noon.

2021 SOUTHERN CAYUGA Community Read

"All the Real Indians Died Off": And 20 Other Myths About Native Americans

by Roxanne Dunbar-Ortiz & Dina Gilio-Whitaker

Each year, the Southern Cayuga Community Read brings neighbors and friends together to discuss a book that has local relevance while exploring timeless themes related to justice, freedom, and equity. This year, we will be reading "All The Real Indians Died Off": And 20 Other Myths About Native Americans.

Due to COVID-19, the 2021 Community Read will consist of small discussion groups, not a central meeting at the school. We will be breaking up into groups of five participants and one moderator (either in-person or via Zoom) to share, reflect and discuss the book and how it relates to injustices we see or feel in our own community. We will follow COVID-19 safety protocols using masks and social distancing.

We will meet during the month of October.

Times and locations will be determined once groups have been formed.

GROUPS WILL BE FORMED IN ONE OF TWO WAYS:

Existing Groups: Friends, neighbors, coworkers who would like to form a community read group. We will provide a moderator and meeting area or zoom link.

Individuals: We will create small groups based on your meeting preference (either in-person or via zoom) indicated when you register.

Complimentary copies of the book are available at the Aurora Free Library and the Hazard Library.

Register Here

REGISTRATION INFO:

If you are interested in participating in a discussion group please register at either library, fill out the form using the QR code, or call/email Elaine Meyers at 315-364-8986 or elaine.meyers4@gmail.com by Sept. 30th.

There will be a Zoom group for the Aurora Free Library on Monday, October 25 at 7 p.m. Please email aurorafreelibrarycny@gmail.com or elaine.meyers4@gmail.com for the link.

New Roadside Storefront for Delaney's Aromatherapy

Hello from Nicole Delaney, owner of Delaney's Aromatherapy. I would just like to let the community know that I have a new roadside storefront available! It's located at 2895 Cork St., Aurora, NY 13026 and open 8 a.m.-8 p.m. daily. It is self-service, so you are welcome to stop and shop at your convenience! I gladly accept cash and Venmo.

What you can expect to find at the roadside storefront are every product that I've created and currently have to offer. All my products are all natural and hand-crafted. The products you can expect to find are shampoos and conditioners, soaps, lotions, candles, wax melts, sprays, roll-ons, men's products, heating pads, and so much more... There are also fresh eggs (that are multi-colored, blue, green, brown, white, etc.).

If you can't make it to the roadside stand, you can always find my products at the King Ferry Corner Store, Bailiwick's Cafe and Market, or online at endlesslydelaney.etsy.com or delaneysaromatherapy.com.

New Location for Dinosaur Dry Goods

Dinosaur Dry Goods has moved from King Ferry to Poplar Ridge and Jackie is ready to welcome visitors by appointment. Now located in a barn behind their home at 1710 Poplar Ridge Rd, the space is well-appointed with easy parking, A/C, heat, and lights! The barn is full of new and vintage clothing, Flax, vintage accessories, jewelry, vintage linens and textiles, ephemera, curious collectibles, original assemblage art, Mexican folk art, and so much more. Visitors should bring their imagination and creativity.

Text or call Jackie at 315-364-5591 or email jackie@dinosaurdrygoods.com for a spur-of-the moment or weeks-in-advance appointment. Accepted payments include, cash, check, credit card, Venmo, and PayPal. To get a flavor for what you will find, check out www.shopdinosaurdrygoods.com.

Updates and Events from the United Ministry of Aurora

The UMA (United Ministry of Aurora) welcomes the Aurora Free Library for a few weeks as the library floors are being redone. Please check their website for hours.

UMA also thanks our generous neighbors, church members, and community friends for all their support, from helping to maintain and update playground equipment, to offering workshops, to cleaning and maintaining our beautiful church. Too many people to name individually but know that you are appreciated!

We offer many events and presentations, as well as our Sunday morning service at 10:30 a.m. All, and we mean all, are welcome! Check our website at <https://unitedministryofaurora.org/>.

Every Wednesday at noon, UMA organist, Scott Gross, will be playing the organ in the sanctuary. Everyone is welcome to pray, meditate, and/or light a candle while enjoying the healing power of the organ.

Statement from President Jonathan Gibraltar On the Death of Former Wells President Frances Tarlton “Sissy” Farenthold

Monday, September 27, 2021

To the Campus Community:

I wanted to share the sad news that Frances Tarlton “Sissy” Farenthold, the 13th president of Wells College, passed away yesterday in Houston just six days shy of her 95th birthday.

Sissy was a monumental figure not just in the College’s history but also in national politics. Descended from a long line of prominent legal advocates in Texas, she won a seat in the state’s House of Representatives in 1968 — and became the only woman serving alongside 149 men in the legislature. Four years later, she again broke ground by being nominated for vice president by Gloria Steinem and others at the 1972 Democratic National Convention in Miami, Fla. Although she ultimately came in second, it cemented her reputation as one of the nation’s most prominent feminists in politics and government.

Later, after two unsuccessful runs for Texas governor, she would head the National Women’s Political Caucus from 1973 to 1975. Then, in 1976, she was recruited to move to upstate New York to become the first woman president of Wells, which had recently celebrated its centennial anniversary and was still a women’s college at the time.

During her time as president, she co-founded the bipartisan Public Leadership Education Network (PLEN) in 1978 to encourage college-aged women to pursue a life of public service and leadership. To this day, more than four decades later, PLEN brings several hundred college students to Washington, D.C. each year to experience firsthand how public policy is shaped and implemented at the national level. In addition, the Frances Tarlton Farenthold Wing of the Schwartz Athletic Center was built during her tenure, and it bears her name to this day.

I shared the news of Sissy’s passing last night with the trustees, and Renée Forgens Minarik ’80 had this to say:

“As a current Wells trustee serving more than four decades after the end of Sissy’s tenure, I certainly appreciate and understand the gift she was to our beloved alma mater and her students. But as a student between 1976 and 1980, all I knew was that if you needed an internship, a guest speaker, an interview or a job connection, you visited Sissy in her unpretentious office in the Bellinzoni building. I never walked away empty-handed . . . President Sissy Farenthold unselfishly shared her experience, her connections and her wisdom with all of us.”

After returning to Houston in 1980, Sissy would continue to serve as an advocate for a variety of progressive causes, including human rights, the anti-apartheid movement in South Africa and the environment. You can read the family’s tribute to her at this link [please note: document will open as a PDF].

Sissy is survived by three children, including George Farenthold II, whose wife Lisa Marsh Ryerson ’81, of course, also served as president of Wells College. The family is planning a private burial this week; a public, in-person memorial service is being planned to be held at the University of Texas law school at a later date, depending on public health conditions.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees and the entire community, I send my deepest sympathies to George and Lisa and their family as we remember a woman who was a trailblazer, an innovator, and an inspiration to women around the world.

Jonathan Gibraltar
President, Wells College

September 2021 Event Line-Up for Wells College's Center for Sustainability and the Environment

Wells College's Center for Sustainability and the Environment offers its October 2021 calendar of planned events and activities. All events this Fall are free and open to the public. All talks will be held virtually via Zoom; films will be shown on-site.

The Sustainability Perspectives series—held on Mondays from 12:30-1:30 p.m. via Zoom—looks at a wide range of sustainability issues from varied viewpoints.

October 4, “Savings Seabirds—Lessons from Puffins about Sustainability”

Dr. Stephen Kress, founder, Project Puffin, National Audubon Society

Worldwide, about one-third of all seabird species are now globally threatened because of effects of invasive predatory mammals, marine pollution, coastal development, and climate change. Against this grim background, Dr. Kress's presentation about restoration of Maine seabirds offers hope that people can bring seabirds back to some of their historic nesting places and responsibly manage essential forage fish which seabirds require. The methods used to bring puffins and terns back to Maine islands are now used worldwide and he will share a few of these exciting and hopeful restoration projects that demonstrate how individuals can make a difference locally for global biodiversity. Dr. Kress will also discuss insights about what puffins are telling us about creating sustainable oceans that benefit people and seabirds.

Zoom #: 837 9110 3234 passcode: DN^7n!V2

October 18, “Introduction to Environmental Justice”

Mariah Davis, Senior Policy & Campaigns Manager, Choose Clean Water Coalition.

Environmental justice is defined as “the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people regardless of race, color, national origin, or income with respect to the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies.” Ms. Davis will speak about national as well as more local environmental justice issues and will address what each of us can do to work for environmental justice for all.

Zoom #: 882 2566 4824 passcode: hf1g#U*j

The Sustainable Business speaker series—a collaboration between the Sullivan Center for Business and Entrepreneurship and the Center for Sustainability—explores the intersections of business and sustainability. There are two Sustainable Business series talks this Fall:

October 21, 7:00 p.m., “Sustaining Rural Communities Through Impact Investing”

Karin Gregory, J.D., '80, co-founder and managing partner, Blue Highway Capital

Most Private Equity funds are focused just on returns. Blue Highway focuses on two factors for success: returns for our private investors, and how to make an impact by investing in small businesses in rural locations that are typically underserved by outside capital providers. Even banks only provide 16% of their capital to small business in the US. Ms. Gregory will explore the issues and opportunities and discuss some examples of impact-oriented investments and how to find that balance to create sustainability solutions for rural America.

Zoom #: 827 9548 7164 passcode: liv32Aq.

The Sustainability Film series—recent feature films on relevant sustainability topics—are held on-site in the evening in the DeWitt Lecture Hall, Zabriskie Hall Room 106, a large space in which audience members may safely socially distance. Masks required on campus this Fall. Organic popcorn with organic butter is offered.

October 19, 7:00 p.m., 2040

Award-winning director Damon Gameau (That Sugar Film) embarks on a journey to explore what the future could look like by the year 2040 if we simply embraced the best solutions already available to us to improve our planet and shifted them rapidly into the mainstream. Structured as a visual letter to his 4-year-old daughter, Damon blends traditional documentary with dramatized sequences and high-end visual effects to create a vision of how these solutions could regenerate the world for future generations. Runtime: 91 minutes

Note: Sustainability Perspectives series and Sustainable Business series talks will be recorded and available for later viewing on our Sustainability Center Events archive page: <https://www.wells.edu/academics/center-sustainability-environment/events-archive>. Questions about these events? Please contact Marian Brown, director of the Center for Sustainability and the Environment, phone: 315-364-3304 or by email: mbrown@wells.edu.

And last but certainly not least, please join the Wells campus community for this very special opportunity:

Tuesday, October 5, 3:00-4:30 p.m.

Fall Foliage Eco-Cruise

Southern Cayuga Book Club

Wednesday, October 6
7:15 p.m.

The Southern Cayuga Book Club will meet to discuss the Community Read title, All the Real Indians Died Off – and 20 Other Myths About Native Americans by Roxanne Dunbar-Ortiz and Dina Gilio-Whitaker. New members are always welcome. Please email aurorafreelibrarycny@gmail.com or librarian@hazardlibrary.org for location.

Next month's book will be Caste: The Origins of Our Discontents by Isabel Wilkerson.

Wells College Learning by the Lake

Wednesday, October 13
7:30 p.m.

Join former Wells College Development Coordinator Cindy Avery as she reads from her book, My Father's Journey: American Pilot to German P.O.W. and Back.

My Father's Journey tells the story of Baldwin Avery, Cindy's father, and his journey of tragedy and triumph through one of the most dramatic and least known occurrences that took place as the war in Europe was nearing an end - The Long March.

From Amazon: "My Father's Journey' is about one man's poignant journey from idyllic childhood in Aurora, New York, to World War II pilot in England to prisoner of war in a desolate camp in German-occupied Poland. Experience firsthand Baldwin C. Avery's struggle to survive the 20th century and all it brought—triumphs and tragedies, love and loss, and a legacy of service to country and community—with the power of faith and family at the heart of it all. 'My Father's Journey' unfolds as a daughter delves into her father's collection of letters, journals, newspaper clippings, photos, and memoirs, and pieces them together to re-create his amazing and inspiring story."

Cindy worked at Wells College from 1994-2002. She is the mother of two alumnae, Heather Rogers Dry '98 and Abby Rogers Slywka '01, and is the aunt of Jennifer Sellen Thurston '92.

Howland Stone Store Museum
Presents: “Cuisines for a Cause:
Community and Charity Cookbooks of Cayuga County”

Sunday, October 24
4:00 p.m.

Opendore, 2978 Route 34B, and Zoom

Cayuga County Historian Ruth Bradley will dig into cookbook collections as historical documents. In an article in The Citizen in 2019, Bradley says, “in many a cookbook collection, there’s a grease-stained pamphlet on old mimeograph paper, bound with staples or yarn, perhaps featuring hand-drawn illustrations: the community, or charity cookbook.” Although “often considered flimsy ephemeral curiosities, let’s think of them instead as cherished community heirlooms, because a closer look at these collections of favorite recipes reveals much about gender roles, food production, changing tastes, local organizations and even genealogical information.”

Ruth will discuss this often-overlooked historical resource at Opendore. Sponsored by the Howland Stone Store Museum, the program is free and open to the public. Members who wish reserved seats please contact us at event@howlandstonestore.org with your name and number of seats desired. The program will also be available on Zoom. Watch for the Zoom link at howlandstonestore.org closer to the program date.
